SCHOTT ZWIESEL

Whether showcasing the world's best wines or the perfect cocktail, sommeliers, wine makers, bartenders, internationally acclaimed chefs and top hotels in over 120 countries all choose Schott Zwiesel as their favorite crystal glass.

Located along Germany's Glasstraße or "Glass Road" in the idyllic Bavarian forest town of Zwiesel, Schott Zwiesel began in 1872 as a small sheet glass works.

Since that modest start over 140 years ago, glass-making innovation has been the norm. Schott Zwiesel was the first to automate production of blown-glass stemware and the first to produce environmentally friendly, lead-free crystal glass of unparalleled quality and brilliance.

But state-of-the-art manufacturing is only one passion—Schott Zwiesel has also cultivated an artisan glass craft culture where skills are handed down from generation to generation and tradition and innovation meet the fine art of crafting glass in every piece.

TRITAN® CRYSTAL GLASS

By eliminating lead from crystal and replacing it with Titanium and Zirconium, Schott Zwiesel created a superior lead-free crystal—Tritan® crystal glass. An exclusive innovation, Tritan crystal is break, scratch and chip resistant, brilliantly clear and designed to withstand daily use. Plus it's easy to clean in the dishwasher—Tritan can handle extensive washing without etching, discoloration or clouding.

DESIGNERS

When the design team of Bernadotte and Kylberg visited the master glassmakers at Zwiesel Kristallglas a powerful connection was made. Bernadotte and Kylberg have a passion for the intersection of craftsmanship and design. They seek to deeply understand the media in which they work. So, it was not long before the duo were blowing glass themselves and developing a passion for the process.

Throughout it all, the idea of “air” kept suggesting itself to them: air in the glassblowing process that gives form to an idea; air that interacts with wine to present the full spectrum of bouquet and taste; and air as something ephemeral but essential to life. And so, Air and Air Sense were born.

Air—the lightest machine made-glass ever—and Air Sense—the apogee of the glassmaker’s art in a functional form. Craftsmanship and design have come together to create works of beauty that enhance the wine experience in every way. Experience Air and Air Sense for yourself!

AIR SENSE

The best way to taste your favorite wines is with a glass so light and perfectly balanced that it almost disappears. Air Sense glasses share a design story and a silhouette with Air but are completely mouth-blown. Amazingly thin and light, each bowl features a crystal-clear glass decantation sphere to help aerate the wine and express every varietal's best characteristics as you pour.
